

iTEP Business

How well can you guess someone's English level?

When you hire someone, you have to guess about a lot of things. How will this person perform in this role? Can he or she take direction and manage others?

One thing you don't have to guess about is the English level of an employee or prospective employee for whom English is a second language. iTEP Business enables employers and hiring managers to quantify English language ability in great detail. With content specific to the workplace, you get a reliable picture of a candidate's mastery of the language skills necessary for the job. You are empowered to make hiring and promotion decisions with confidence.

Businesses all over the world in a wide variety of industries use iTEP Business in their hiring practices, and to measure the success of language training programs, qualifying employees for new assignments, and more.

The basics

Test the skills you need. There are two versions of iTEP Business.

- iTEP Business-Core assesses grammar, listening, and reading skills within 60 minutes. Scores are available instantly.
